Third parties

Drawings and documents produced by this business have a client name and site address with postcode to identify the project. These drawings become public record once submitted to a Local Authority for the purposes of a Planning Application. We also share some basic information with Consultants we work with on your behalf. For example, a Structural Engineer must have a site address and client name for the drawings and documents. We may need to obtain quotations from other suppliers by sending copies of drawings which contain a name and address. If you would like your details redacted from any public records please make us aware at the earliest opportunity.
